American veterans of all generations have faced challenges as they re-enter civilian life and begin the process of finding a new place within the fabric of their respective communities across the country. Over the years, Congress and state legislatures have provided statutes and regulations to honor American veterans by addressing housing, education, and employment law issues. Hear the latest from employment lawyer and veteran Pat Gavin and our special guest speaker Mitch Holthus, "Voice of the Kansas City Chiefs", who will take a profound look at the huge issues facing Veterans and lawyers who help them with deployment, return-to-work and service-related disability issues. This will be a potentially life changing presentation that can be applied to employment law situations. There will be multiple examples from the highly competitive world of the NFL and examples from each era Veterans have served their country.

Speakers: Patrick M. Gavin, Husch Blackwell Sanders LLP
Mitch Holthus, Chiefs Radio Network
