For the first time ever, twenty leading national construction-related associations have collaborated to develop consensus contract documents. Owners, general contractors, subcontractors, sureties, insurers, and engineers have developed ConsensusDOCS, employing best practices and fair risk allocation for all parties, resulting in better project results and fewer disputes.

In fact, "DOCS" stands for Designers, Owners, Contractors, Subcontractors and Sureties. This diverse coalition demonstrated the power of unprecedented collaboration, with the release of this comprehensive series of more than seventy collaboratively drafted contracts and forms. This presentation will review:

- Owner/Contractor Lump Sum, Cost Plus & Design Contracts
- Contractor/Subcontractor Agreement
- Collaborative Agreement
- Comparison of ConsensusDOCS Construction Agreements and General Conditions with AIA Document A201 General Conditions 2007 Edition.

Speaker: Brian Perlberg, Construction Law Associated General Contractors of America
