You will have the rare opportunity to hear Sam Peltzman, nationally recognized authority on business and regulatory economics due to the generous sponsorship of Spectrum Economics, Inc. Dr. Peltzman will discuss recent changes in antitrust policy that have sometimes been attributed to the influence of the "Chicago school". The spread of Chicago school doctrine in the courts has also elicited a "post-Chicago" reaction among some legal and economic scholars. Dr. Peltzman will review how antitrust policy changed (and did not change) in response to Chicago school analysis, then discuss the post-Chicago reaction & its effects on policy. Finally, he will assess how policy is likely to change, if at all, going forward. A greater understanding of antitrust policy and its application will be of significant value in counseling your business clients.

Moderators: David A. Jermann, Armstrong Teasdale LLP, Chair, Business Litigation Committee of the Civil Litigation Section
Christopher C. Pflaum, Ph.D., President, Spectrum Economics, Inc.

Speaker: Sam Peltzman, Ralph and Dorothy Keller Distinguished Service Professor of Economics Emeritus, University of Chicago, Booth School of Business

Professor Peltzman's research has focused on issues related to the interface between the public sector and the private economy. His published work includes numerous articles in academic journals. These encompass many issues in the general areas of the Economics of Government Regulation and Industrial Organization, including the regulation of banking, automobile safety and pharmaceutical innovation, the growth of government, the political economy of public education, and the economic analysis of voters and legislators. He is the author or an editor of several books, including Political Participation and Government Regulation and The Deregulation of Network Industries: What's Next.

Professor Peltzman is currently an editor of the Journal of Law and Economics and is the Director Emeritus of the George J. Stigler Center for the Study of the Economy and the State at the University of Chicago. He served as Director of the Stigler Center from 1991-2005. He serves on the editorial boards of several academic journals and on the Council of Academic Advisers of the American Enterprise Institute.
