Attorneys have experienced bank failures and the impact on their clients and sometimes on their own firms. This seminar will explore the factors and procedures involved, including (i) the mechanics of how a bank is taken into receivership by the FDIC, (ii) the priority of creditor's claims in a bank failure, (iii) the effect of bank failures on depositors, (iv) how a bank failure will generally cause an attorney's legal fees to remain unpaid as an unsecured creditor of the bank, and (v) how an attorney can evaluate whether a client bank is in danger of failing for purposes of seeking a retainer or seeking twice a month or weekly payment of fees.
